

The Divinity of Love

by Vaishalee Patel

The buzzing of the bees fills my ears
I close my eyes hearing the buzzing throughout my body
As my heart pulsates and my chest heaves with joy Imagining the love that draws them to the celestial flower that holds the immortal nectar
And the result of this love...golden sweet honey.

I hear the soft rustling of the grass and I lift my eyes Camouflaged in the trees, I watch a doe and deer rubbing their bodies together
Then turning their noses to each other and playfully kissing Secretly proclaiming their love for each other.

My ears caught my attention as I heard the flapping of large wings
I look up and see two bald eagles gently land on a tree branch
So gracefully they stare out to the world
Then turn to each other, mates for life
Rubbing their feathers together, their beaks touching gently Showing the world their display of love.

A splash of water reaches my face, fresh and invigorating
I glance out to see where the splash came from
The beautiful arc of the two swans as they intertwine their necks
Forming a perfect heart
Swiftly their feathers fan out at the same time Indicating their height of love.

As I closed my eyes to absorb the love in the air a tickle on my forearm gently stirs me
I quickly open my eyes and look down at my arm at a sight

That gives me goose bumps and shivers all over
In exact opposite directions,
Two magnificent blue dragonflies mating
I could see the love in their eyes for each other
And the movement of their bodies in perfect harmony.

Such magnificent love in the groves of nature
Stirs the heart of a lover
The Divinity of Love resides in each atom of Nature
Open your heart and experience the sweetness of Love Without Love, there is no life.